Welcome to the Hotel del Coronado

Follow convention news  #NGFAConv16
Welcome to San Diego and the incomparable Hotel del Coronado!

It's a pleasure to welcome more than 700 members and guests to the National Grain and Feed Association's (NGFA) 120th annual convention.

I especially want to welcome all new members and first-time attendees. It's great to have all of you here, and I encourage you to participate actively!

A special welcome, too, to new NGFA committee apprentices who are attending their first convention! It's our third year of extending this welcome, and it's been wonderful to see the program grow and to work with these talented newer representatives from NGFA-member companies as they get involved in NGFA's committee system.

We're also pleased to welcome members and executive staff from the North American Export Grain Association (NAEGA), who are joining us for their annual meeting. The NGFA and NAEGA are co-located in Washington. The mutual collaboration and synergy that this arrangement makes possible helps our industry effectively address a broader range of major policy issues than we could otherwise, helping us pursue the industry's global strategic objectives. It's a model for other trade associations on how to best serve their industry sectors.

This year's convention theme is “The Difference Makers.” Today's world poses many challenges: geopolitical, economic, logistical, regulatory, and more. These are challenges that require each of us individually, and our premier national trade association, to redouble our efforts to be “Difference Makers.”

This year’s NGFA convention will help equip us to meet that challenge, delivering the information, knowledge and industry networking opportunities to make that possible.

I also want to thank the many of you who work tirelessly serving in leadership positions on the NGFA Board of Directors, as committee chairs and committee members, as elected leaders or executive staff members of State and Regional Grain and Feed Associations, and in countless other capacities. I also want to thank our staff for its dedicated service in proactively addressing the myriad issues that this great association is called upon to tackle for the benefit of the industry.

To succeed requires that we achieve pro-growth policies, as well as a regulatory environment that does not overly shackle business efficiency. Achieving these twin objectives will demand an even greater commitment from NGFA “Difference Makers” to become more actively and directly involved in our nation’s political process – another theme that will permeate this convention.

I encourage you to take advantage of all this convention has to offer. A good start is to attend and participate in the many open committee meetings to learn first-hand – and to provide your input – on the major issues that will affect our businesses in the year ahead. You'll find committee meetings scheduled on Sunday afternoon, as well as Monday and Tuesday mornings. The major agenda topics for each committee are listed in the program so you can pick those that have the most interest and relevance to you and your business. As an industry-driven association, the committee structure is the heart-and-soul of NGFA.

I also encourage you to attend the major Transportation Open Forum on Sunday afternoon, as well as the outstanding general sessions on Monday and Tuesday mornings. Interacting with our convention speakers, exchanging ideas with your industry colleagues and enjoying this vibrant community with your friends and family are integral parts of the NGFA convention experience.

Finally, let me thank you for the privilege and honor of having served as NGFA chairman the past two years. I appreciate all the support you have given me. Yes, we have big challenges ahead that will require even more active involvement from each of us as “Difference Makers.” But we're also part of a great team!

I'm excited to see what the future holds as our industry continues to invest time, talent and resources in using this great Association to make a difference in a changing world.

About Committees

Comprised of more than 300 dedicated industry volunteers from all types and sizes of member companies, NGFA committees work proactively for the mutual benefit of the industry. They ensure that diverse issues are addressed effectively by a cross section of members who have expertise and experience in the subject matter.

Foundation

Making a Difference in the Industry

Golf Tournament

Each year, NGFA hosts a golf tournament during convention to support the National Grain and Feed Foundation (NGFF). This year, participants will play at The Steele Canyon Golf Club, a 27-hole championship course personally designed by Gary Player with respect and appreciation for the natural beauty of the terrain.

About NGFF

Established in 1965, the National Grain and Feed Foundation provides support for public education and research projects that benefit the grain, feed and processing industry, enhance its presence to the public, and position it for future growth.

All administrative support and management expertise for the day-to-day operations of the Foundation are donated by the NGFA. That means 100 percent of funds contributed is directed to research and education. Recent Foundation projects have included:

- Conservation Reserve Program research and analysis.
- Regional safety and health seminars.
- Video on safe grain bin entry at elevators and on farms.
- Public education on inland waterway infrastructure
- Support for Council for Agricultural Science and Technology, and Animal Agriculture Alliance.

Donations

Donations to National Grain and Feed Foundation generally qualify as charitable contributions for federal income tax purposes. Donations may be made by individuals, corporations or other foundations with similar goals, and often are made in honor or memory of past industry leaders or colleagues. Contributions should be sent to:
